Hello,

I am a Ph.D. student who is conducting a study that examines employment experiences of individuals who stutter. I'm recruiting participants who are at least 18 years old and who identify as a person who stutters. The study requires taking a brief survey that will take 15-20 minutes. The survey will be anonymous and no names or other identifying information will be collected. You will have an opportunity to provide an email address if you would like to participate in further interviews regarding employment and stuttering but providing an email address is not required to participate in the study.

You will not be compensated for your participation, but it has the potential to help the over 3 million people in the United States that do stutter. You may withdraw from this study at any time or skip any questions that make you feel uncomfortable. If you have any questions, you may contact me at charity.yarzebinski1@louisiana.edu

Thank you for your consideration in participating,

-Charity Yarzebinski
